

Gurney, Foyt Choices At Daytona

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)

Two road racing veterans and a top Indianapolis 500 contender were scheduled to lead a field of 48 cars in the 250-mile American Challenge Cup race today at the Daytona International Speedway.

The race, scheduled to start at 1 p.m. EST, is for sports cars, prototypes and grand turissimo cars.

Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., who drove record practice runs earlier this week, bettered his previous times by turning a 115.163 miles per hour lap over the 3.8 mile road course.

Gurney consistently had bettered the 100 m.p.h. mark in his ford-powered Lotus, and won the pole.

Starting beside Gurney will be Indianapolis 500 veteran A.J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., driving a Scarab Mecon. Foyt's best qualifying lap Friday was 113.543.

Ray B. Heppenstall of Glendale, Pa., driving a Howe Sound Ford, and Harry Heuer of Chicago, in a Chapparal, were in the second row.

Pedro Rodriguez of Mexico City, in a Ferrari Prototype and Charlie Kolb, in another Lotus, were in the third row.

Three other drivers also averaged over 100 m.p.h. in qualifying runs. They were Harry Washburn of Sireveport, La., driving a Cooper-Monaco; John Everly of Winfield, Kan., in a Cobra-AC, and Bud Gates of Indianapolis in a Genie-Chevy.

James R. McCain of Atlanta was injured in the only serious accident of the qualifying trials.

He suffered a crushed right arm, severe internal injuries and burns of the face and neck when his Chevrolet-powered Lister flipped in the backstretch.

McCain, listed in satisfactory condition, was scheduled for surgery. Speedway physician Dr. A.A. Monaco said the 28-year-old driver would probably have to have at least two or three fingers amputated.

Today's race was a warm-up for the 2,000 kilometer Daytona Continental Grand Touring race for Federation Internationale Automobile world points.

Elon Christians Invade Carolina Coastal Plain Tonight

ELON COLLEGE—The Elon College basketball team, victims of two successive losses to Western Carolina and Appalachian in treks into the Carolina mountains, will try a coastal plain climate when they tackle the Eastern Carolina Pirates at Greenville tonight.

This game, which is not a championship affair since the Pirates withdrew from the Carolinas Conference to seek wider fields of competition, still marks the renewal of one of the hottest cage rivalries in North Carolina, and it could prove one of the finest games of the 1964 season. Tip-off time for the contest has been changed to 7 o'clock to give fans a chance to view at least part of the Duke-Davidson tussle on the air.

The Christians, who have been hobbling along since the unfortunate injuries to Roland Miller and Dave Winfrey, a pair of back-court sharpshooters, will be seeking their third consecutive win over the Pirates this season.

The Maroon and Gold cagers turned back the Pirates 71 to 70 in a thrilling final battle in the Camp Lejeune Christmas tournament, and slightly more than a month ago the Christians romped to an impressive 82 to 57 triumph over the Buccaneers in a battle on the Elon court.

in that battle with East Carolina on the Elon floor the Christians found their three big men on the inside all hot on the same night, and they won without the benefit of outside marksmanship. In that contest both Jesse Branson and Howard Andrew hit for 23 points, and rugged Art Davis blazed the buckets for 20 points.

The Christians have not been at top stride in recent games, due partially to the absence of eagle-eyed Roland Miller at guard, but they will face a Pirate team tonight which is also somewhat crippled by the loss of key personnel.

Big Bill Otte, senior center and captain of the Pirates, who was a big threat in the two earlier games this season, was dismissed from the Pirate squad recently for disciplinary reasons. Going along with Otte was Russ Knowles, a 6-5 starting forward. In addition to these disciplinary losses, the Pirates also have Jerry Parker, a 6-4 forward, on the doubtful list with injuries.

Considering these Pirate losses and the continued absence of Roland Miller from the Elon line-up, the game at Greenville tonight could be an interesting contest. Whatever the handicaps, cage fans know that both the Christians and Pirates will be fighting tooth-and-tongue from the first whistle to the last.

An interesting development in the Elon loss to Appalachian this week was the great play by Richard Such, a 6-4 freshman forward from Sanford. Such is both rugged and smart, and he may see much service tonight against the Pirates.

If Such starts against the Pirates, as he did against Appalachian, then the Elon starters may show a line-up that includes Branson and Such at the forwards, Andrew at center and Morningstar and Winfrey at the guards.

Duke, Davidson Vie In Grudge Tilt; Heels, State Bow In Overtime

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—Duke goes outside the conference tonight against Davidson N.C., that produced two overtime games.

Coming out of the twinbill for three other members of the Atlantic Coast Conference, the Durham game couldn't mean much for North Carolina, and South Carolina locked horns in a desperate battle for second place Friday night in a basketball doubleheader at Charlotte, N.C., that produced two overtime games.

Coming out of the twinbill with victories were Clemson, North Carolina, and South Carolina, 61-52 in a single overtime contest with N.C. State.

The result: North Carolina and South Carolina all now have 5-4 ACC records, substantially below Duke's 10-0 conference record but good enough to promise a deadly battle for seedings in the conference tournament next month.

Some of the glamor was taken out of the Duke-Davidson battle when fourth-ranked Wildcats fell 70-53 to Furman Thursday night. But nearly 9,000 spectators are expected at Duke indoor stadium, home of the fifth-ranked Blue Devils, and more will watch it on regional television.

Coach Tony Simeon credited Burlington's rebounding and shooting for his team's loss.

"Garrison is a good ball handler, and his dribbles enabled Burlington to play a good alley-cat basketball game. It paid off, and that's what counts."

Burlington hit 16 of 32 shots from the floor for 50 per cent, while High Point hit only 14 of 40 for 35 per cent. High Point led the rebounding 25 to 21, but the Bison held a much bigger advantage at High Point earlier.

UCLA First Team To Clinch Berth In NCAA Playoffs

By TED MEIER, Associated Press Sports Writer—The picture is getting a bit clearer for next month's NCAA postseason tournament that determines the national collegiate basketball champion.

The first to practically clinch a berth in the 25-team field is the nation's top-ranked team, UCLA. The unbeaten Bruins walloped Washington 73-38 Friday night for their 20th straight and to all intents assured themselves of the Big Six title which carries with it an automatic placing in the NCAA championship tourney.

The grudge contest has been building since the 1963 season, when Davidson knocked Duke out of its No. 2 national ranking and handed the Blue Devils the first of their three losses last season. Both teams have left little doubt they've been pointing for tonight's game.

At Charlotte, the spectators were treated to alternate bursts of brilliant basketball and nothing, literally. South Carolina went for 85 minutes in its game with N.C. State without taking a shot as Bill Yarbrough held the ball.

It was a long stall, so long that the referee forgot the game and made a personal study of the game program and the first-half statistics. And one spectator took the delay as a chance to get autographs from two of the players.

There were brief moments of strategic delay in the North Carolina-Clemson game, too, but it was mostly a battle for the goal as Clemson ran away from the Tar Heels in the second extra period.

Then in the third period, the Bulldogs routed the Bison 16 to 13-16.

Coach Tony Simeon credited Burlington's rebounding and shooting for his team's loss.

"Garrison is a good ball handler, and his dribbles enabled Burlington to play a good alley-cat basketball game. It paid off, and that's what counts."

Beatty Gets Back Into Competition

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Jim Beatty's 1964 debut, the attempt of a prep sensation to defeat a pending world record holder and a serious bid for an indoor 800 record tonight's program at the Golden Gate Invitational.

A crowd of more than 10,000 is expected at the Cow Palace to witness a stand-out meet.

Beatty, aiming for a spot on the U.S. Olympic team in the 5,000 meters, is opening his campaign with a one-mile run against NCAA champion Morgan Groth of Oregon State and 3:39 miler Bill Dosson.

Sellars, Little River Battle For Crown

Jordan Sellars' second seeded Curtis Lambert, Ronald Foster and Stanford McKethan with 10 each. Pollard was high for Moore with 14.

Little River's Busy Beavers, the tournament favorites, advanced to the finals with an easy win over Central of Alabama 75 to 39. The game was fairly close during the first half which ended with Little River on top 23 to 21.

The Beavers began to pull away in the third quarter as they outscored Central 25 to 14. There was no letup in the final eight minutes as the Cardinals of Central were held to only four points and the Beavers added 21.

Bobby McCall had 24 to lead all scorers but was followed closely by M. Hawley and D. Holman who hit for 23 each. Jimmy Anderson had 17 to top the Central scorers.

Williams Needs Old Golf Clubs

Coach Twig Wiggins of Williams High has put in a call for golf clubs.

Anyone who has old clubs no longer being used is urged to contact the Williams coach at CA 6-9672.

"We're going to try to teach some golf to our physical education classes," he said, "and we need about 100 golf clubs of any vintage. We'd like some woods, irons, putters - anything - and condition does not matter."

Basic fundamentals will be taught those interested at Williams. Wiggins shoots "in the 80's" and should be a good instructor.

In the consolation game the girls of Roxboro and Hillsboro meet at 5 o'clock, while the boys of Merrick Moore and Alamance Central square off at 6:30.

Tenight Sellars meets the Busy Beavers of Little River for the boys' championship at 9 o'clock. Central's Cardinals take on Lincoln of Chapel Hill for the girls' title at 7:45.
