Dressing up for race meetings is nothing new. Mick Walsh reviews the authentic Goodwood style

PHOTOGRAPHY BARC/GOODWOOD ARCHIVES

Clockwise, from left: glamorous blonde poses with Lancia Astura – high-waisted skirt and peep-toe shoes were a must in the '40s; cinch-waist dresses and silk scarves look spot-on, too; accessories such as binoculars or a camera make the outfit; for gents, slicked-back hair, tweeds and a narrow tie look sharp, while trousers should have turn-ups
