"MURDER WAS DELIBERATE"

U.S. Force Bomed by Own Units

By Robert Tuckman

SAIGON (AP) — Artillerymen in a U.S. light infantry brigade on its first combat mission in South Vietnam mistakenly shelled their own troops in two separate operations near the Cambodian border Monday, the U.S. command reported. It also said a marine jet accidentally bombed leathernecks hunting North Vietnamese regulars near the demilitarized zone.

The mistakes cost the lives of six Americans while 23 others were wounded, a spokesman said.

The troops of the U.S. 196th Infantry brigade were out on their first search and destroy missions when shells from their own guns fell on them near their base camp at Tay Ninh city.

Early Morning

One shelling at 1:30 a.m. Monday killed two infantrymen and wounded five, an official spokesman said. Several hours later, two more rounds of 160mm artillery killed one infantryman and wounded three, the spokesman added.

Both artillery incidents took place a few miles from Tay Ninh city, 40 miles northwest of Saigon.

In the bombing, a U.S. marine F-4 Phantom fighter-bomber accidentally dropped a 500-pound bomb Sunday on marines dug in during Operation Prairie. The incident occurred in the northernmost province of South Vietnam a few miles south of the demilitarized zone.

Three Killed

The U.S. command said three marines were killed and four wounded. A spokesman said the air strike was called in by the marines and was under direction of a forward air controller.

He said the Phantom jet made one bombing run 600 feet in front of marine positions, then the ground unit called for strikes 300 feet closer to them.

The forward controller marked the target with a smoke grenade. The bomb was dropped in the designated target area, inflicting the marine casualties, the spokesman reported.

The mistaken bombings overshadowed war developments in which U.S. planes kept up crippling pressure on targets in North Vietnam and sparred with communist Mig jets for the third straight day.

In the South

In the only major action reported in the South, marines fought North Vietnamese regulars just below the demilitarized zone.

The last major bombing error in Vietnam took place Aug. 26 when U.S. planes dropped napalm on a unit of the U.S. 1st infantry division. They killed three infantrymen and wounded 19.

There were a series of other accidental bombings on allied troops and Vietnamese civilians during July and August.

Bayh Suggests School Prayer Bill Alternate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Birch Bayh (D-Ind.) said Monday he will propose a congressional resolution encouraging voluntary silent prayer in the public schools. Bayh's bill would be a substitute for Sen. Everett Dirksen's constitutional amendment on school prayers, which was introduced after supreme court rulings that declared official school prayers unconstitutional.

Bayh told a news conference Dirksen disagrees with his approach. "He just vetoed any approach other than a constitutional amendment," Bayh said. Dirksen, the senate Republican leader, said he will seek action Monday on his prayer amendment.

Bayh said he is opposed to an amendment, but does believe that some congressional declaration is desirable. "To dispel widespread fears, anxieties and misunderstandings, and to assure court decisions on school prayers."

"Because of all these controversies and confusion," Bayh said, "I intend to offer . . . a resolution that would encourage school officials to institute, at their discretion, practices that would allow periods of voluntary silent prayer and meditation."

Bayh said nothing in the supreme court decisions bars that approach.

"It seems to me that Sen. Dirksen and I have a common goal," Bayh said.

His resolution would declare: "In the sense of congress it is in the national interest and consonant with our desire to strengthen the moral fiber of our citizens that silent voluntary prayer and meditation should not be excluded from our schools where, in the opinion of local school officials, such prayer and meditation will not interfere with the orderly conduct of academic affairs."

Urges Defeat Of Conservatives

ATLANTIC CITY (UPI)—The United Steelworkers Union president, I. W. Abel, Monday called for the defeat of ultra-conservative congressional candidates in the November general election.

"There are great threats from the far right," Abel told the first session of the Union's 13th biennial convention at Convent Hall.

Guardman Killed In Bayonet Drill

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI)—A national guard soldier was fatally stabbed in the chest with a bayonet during riot control training.

The victim was identified as Pvt. Roger McNary, 22, Riverside, Calif., one of several men acting as rioters to give an 11-man squad practice in quelling disturbances. The training occurred Monday during a drill Saturday.

Maj. James Barry, executive officer of the 1st battalion, 185th infantry, said scarabards normally were left on the bayonets during training, but apparently one was knocked off.

Chief Thinks Killer Had No Other Reason

KENILWORTH, Ill. (AP) — Kenilworth's police chief said Monday all indications are that the slayer of Valerie Percy broke into her home for no reason but "to harm a member of the family."

Whether Valerie, a 21-year-old twin, was the intended victim Chief Robert Daley said he did not know. She simply may have been the first person the killer found, he said.

The daughter of Charles Percy, 47, one-time boy wonder of business and now Republican nominee for U.S. senator, was beaten and stabbed to death in her bed early Sunday while the Percys and two other children slept nearby.

The sleeping children included Valerie's twin, Sharon, and another sister, Gail, 13. The Percys' two boys were away.

"All indications apparently are that the intruder went in to harm a member of the family but I don't know which one," Daley said.

Nothing Taken

Asked whether the killing might have been carried out by a burglar who had been discovered, Daley said, "as of this moment we know of nothing that was taken."

He said no accumulation of valuables such as jewelry was in the rambling Percy mansion overlooking Lake Michigan in this North Shore suburb of Chicago.

Percy's wife, Loraine, discovered the killing after hearing moans and going to Valerie's room to investigate.

The Percys' bedroom door was closed. Asked how the mother could have heard sounds with the door closed, Daley said that in the quiet of the night she would have heard them.

Find 3 Items

The search for clues thus far has yielded a scissors, a knife and an old moccasin. Daley said he placed no significance on these items.

The investigation, he said, is being handled by a team of four men from the Cook county (Chicago) state's attorney's office, three agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and detectives from the Chicago police homicide division and crime laboratory.

The FBI's status in the hunt is that of a cooperating agency, agents said. As yet there is no indication of any violation of a federal law which would give the FBI jurisdiction.

Quiz All

Daley said all friends and acquaintances of the Percys, including Percy's attorney, were being quizzed.

Senate Kills Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate rejected Monday a final effort to revive the 1966 civil rights bill with its controversial open housing provision.

The Pontiff also appealed for an end to the nuclear arms race, nationalism expansion, racism, segregation and revolution.

In his encyclical, a circular letter to the world's Roman Catholic bishops, the Pope noted that the month of October is a very special month and in October "our prayers and supplications should be redoubled" to help bring peace to all men.

Pope Paul said that from the very beginning of his pontificate three years ago, he had "neglected no opportunity" to use his office to work for peace. He recalled his trip to the U.N. last Oct. 4 to appeal for peace before the world's largest political forum.

Claims Rep. Powell Will Lose Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Sam Gibbons says nothing Negro leaders can do will keep Rep. Adam Clayton Powell from losing his chairmanship powers of the house education and labor committee Thursday.

Asked about plans for a rally in New York City Tuesday in Powell's behalf, Gibbons, a Florida Democrat, said, "I don't think it would have any effect on the outcome of the vote."

About offers by some Negro leaders to picket the homes of committee members known to be against Powell, a Democrat from Harlem, Gibbons said in interview:

"Fraught with Danger" "Anything like that involving members of congress is fraught with danger. You don't threaten people who are in the highest lawmaking body in the land and perhaps the most important in the world. Congressmen are not intimidated. Each man votes according to his conscience."

Gibbons is the leader of a group of committee members who say they have the votes at least to strip the 31-member committee of its chairmanship. Powell is粉末 as chairman to six subcommittee chairmen. The move is to be made Thursday.

Powell, a Negro, preached Sunday at Harlem's Abyssinian Baptist church where he is pastor and announced plans for Tuesday's rally at the A. Philip Randolph Institute, Randolph, head of the AFL-CIO Sleeping Car Porters union, is to be rally chairman.

Sermon on Daniel

Powell's sermon was on Daniel in the lion's den. It contained no political remarks.

But at the end of the 90-minute service before about 2,000, Powell said of the committee members, move against him: "This is the reward I get for excellence."

He said he has been called "the best chairman on the Hill" by Presidents Kennedy and Johnson and by House Speaker McCormack. Fifty-four major bills were passed during his chairmanship, he said.

Powell could not be reached for comment on Gibbons' statements. An aide to Powell said only, "It'll all come to pass on Thursday."

Thant Will Stay Until Year's End

Asking Again For Removal Of Sukarno

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—First waving students accused President Sukarno Monday of playing a key role in the abortive communist coup of last October and called anew for his removal from power.

More than 2,000 students massed outside the University of Jakarta waving banners and shouting slogans despite efforts by military leaders to head off the demonstration.

The demonstrators heard Sukarno was at headquarters of the communist party (PKI) when the coup attempt was launched. It was the bitterest attack the students have yet made on Sukarno.

"Sukarno has not condemned the PKI but supported them," shouted one student leader.

"Sukarno says he condemns imperialists . . . but he has never condemned the PKI imperialists who helped the PKI coup attempt," another screamed.

Army patrols hovered near the demonstrators who surged to the gates of Sukarno's palace but made no attempt to stop them.

Sukarno was in his palace handing out medals to his household staff while demonstrators milled outside. He gave medals to servants who used to sell his bath water to people who thought it would make them strong.

Ignoring a warning from Major Gen. Alamsjah, one of the army's top leaders, the students massed outside the university campus and circulated a proclamation demanding that Sukarno leave the country.

Red China Assails Pope, Defends Red Guard Acts

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China assailed Pope Paul VI Monday as "that mouthpiece of the reactionary classes."

An editorial in the theoretical journal Red Flag, which was named the director of the current purge that is "The Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution," denied that the violent activities of Red China's young Red Guards affronted human dignity.

The editorial, in general a riposte to critics around the world, said: "The revolutionary actions taken by the revolutionary young fighters are a sure sign of final destruction for the class enemies at home and abroad. And our Red Guards are a symbol that the revolutionary cause of the proletariat is prospering and infinitely alive."

Attacks Pope Paul

The article took issue with Pope Paul, which it quoted as saying the Red Guards were "a sign of death and not a sign of life." It displayed sensitiveness to criticism around the world of the activities of the adolescents who have paraded some victims naked through the streets, humiliated old men and women and attacked religious institutions.

Pope Proclaims Month of Prayer

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI Monday proclaimed October a month of worldwide prayer to end the Vietnam war and set Oct. 4 as a day of special observance for Roman Catholics.

Warning that "we are threatened by a more extensive and more disastrous calamity that endangers the human family," the Pope called for a redoubled of prayers next month.

He urged Catholics everywhere to join in a special "Day of Prayer" Oct. 4—a special anniversary of his peace pilgrimage to the United Nations in New York—announced he would preside at a ceremony that day in St. Peter's basilica.

In the fourth encyclical of his reign, the Pope told the world's half billion Roman Catholics that he lifted his voice "with piercing cry and with tears" to political leaders to "prevent the further spread of the conflagration and even to extinguish it entirely."

He called for a meeting to work out plans for a peace and said " . . . a settlement should be reached now, even at the expense of some inconvenience or loss, for (otherwise) it may have to be made later in the train of bitter slaughter and involve great loss."

NEW YORK — A friend of this department, checking out of the George V hotel in Paris the other afternoon, spotted two familiar figures at the registration desk—Candy Monser and Melvin Powers, the acquitted principals in the flamboyant murder case in Florida. Evidently that togetherness hasn't subsided.

The mansion owned and once occupied by the late Dorothy Kilgallen and Richard Kollmar, purchased by Beauclaire Maysa Kahn, is to be converted into a beauty and health salon—right close to the Soviet embassy and you can make up your own page.

Rocky Marciano, laughing off the report in a British newspaper that he was planning to resume boxing in a quest to recapture his championship title (from which he retired), conceded to Jilly Rizzo that he would, nevertheless, be willing to put on the gloves again if the state department saw fit to send him to Vietnam for boxing exhibitions for our GIs in fact, he expressed an eagerness for the assignment.

At the reception at Twenty-One following the nuptials of Karen Krieger and Stanley Nelson, Operatic Star Richard Tucker settled down at our table and told us he has thus far refused to go to Russia to entertain and would continue to, despite invitations, until the Reds had a change of attitude toward their Jewish inhabitants.

He revealed, too, that while in Buenos Aires, weeks ago he received a long distance call from his son Boris in New York asking him to be safe. Puzzled, he asked why the solicitude—and was informed by his son that a bit of a revolution had taken place.

Tucker said he told his son to hold on—he looked out the window of his suite, came back and reported: "There are no outsiders around—no signs of fighting—I'm going back to sleep."

Incidentally, offering to send me his latest album, I gave him my home address—and asked him, since he was not writing it down, if he could remember it.

"If I can remember 36 operas—memorized them all," he said, "I can remember a simple address!"

The Legend of Greta Garbo

Hollywood's Famed Actress Is Still Alone

A lonely beauty who is the screen's leading legend and perhaps its greatest female talent turned 60 this week. Greta Garbo today is almost a phantom, but after 25 years her films still are major attractions. Bob Thomas describes Garbo's career and later life in a three-part series beginning today.

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — She travels through a shadowy world of her own making, slipping in and out of airports, treacherous, with a sloop hat pulled down over one eye.

Sometimes an alert photographer spots her behind the dark glasses and steals a quick shot. She manages a warm smile, then races to a waiting limousine and vanishes.

She is Greta Garbo, born Greta Gustafsson in Stockholm 60 years ago yesterday. (Some sources say 61.) She has not acted in films for a quarter century, yet most critics agree she remains the screen's greatest actress.

Garbo lives today, in New York, much as she has during her 40 years in America Alone. Her aloneness has long been a national joke, but she is not amused.

"I never said 'I want to be alone,'" she once complained to a friend. "I only said, 'I want to be let alone.'"

For the most part, she is Old-time fans often observe her on the long walks she takes on Manhattan streets, but they respect her privacy.

Garbo has lived for many years in a cooperative apartment on 52nd street overlooking the East river. Her trips here

Greta Garbo is pictured as she visited St. Peter's basilica in Rome in 1949. "I never said, 'I want to be alone,'" she once complained to a friend. "I only said, 'I want to be let alone.'" grow more infrequent. She makes a rare return to Europe, usually staying at the secluded place on the Riviera or on the yacht of Aristotle Onassis.

She comes to Hollywood in a year, visiting a few old friends like Katharine Hepburn. Hair Stylist Sidney Guillard and Director George Cukor.

But most of the time she leads the solitary life.

How did she get that way? Her biographers have suggested that Garbo was a shy, sensitive girl who was thrust into a life for which she was temperamentally unsuited. The make-believe of being a motion picture actress appealed to her, but the clamor surrounding her status as a movie star proved more than she could endure.

Upon her arrival in Hollywood in 1926, she was immediately placed in the publicity mill at MGM Press agents' disposal with the studio's trademark lion and in the stentorian version of cheesecake. The nadir came when she was required to don a sprinter's suit for a photograph with the University of Southern California track coach.

She snagged "When I am begg like Gish (Lillian was then the queen of MGM), no more publicity like this, no more handshakes with prize-fighters."

Garbo gave only a few terse interviews before withdrawing into silence. Lon Chaney told her: "Don't talk to anyone, we are in the business of illusion."

The illusion of the "divine Garbo" continued to grow during her 15 years in Hollywood and it remains vivid today. Friends say she is acutely conscious of that illusion and the way it is perpetuated by her 24 films, which can be seen on television and at Garbo festivals in art theaters.

Over the years many producers have announced plans to return Garbo to the screen, and she has not discouraged their overtures.

Recently Ross Hunter sent her the script of "The Heaven Train," in which he wanted her to play a nun. She returned it to him for which she was temperamentally unsuited. The make-believe of being a motion picture actress appealed to her, but the clamor surrounding her status as a movie star proved more than she could endure.

Garbo's friends agree. Says one: "If Greta went back to work now, she would be competing with the way she appears in the films of her heyday. She looks marvelous today, but still, she is 60."

"The Hostage" Premiere Set For Oct. 26

DES MOINES (AP) — The premiere of "The Hostage," the first production by the Iowa film-making firm, Heartland Productions, Inc., will be held in Des Moines Oct. 26.

The motion picture, which was filmed in Iowa, will be shown at a new theater, East Gate Cinema I and II.

HOLLYWOOD — Noel Coward caught up with Carol Lynley in London and promptly paged her for the feminine lead in "Pretty Polly," written and to be directed by Coward for Universal.

He took Carol under his wing while they were making "Bunny Lake Is Missing" for Otto Preminger, and they became fast friends.

It's hard to believe that Carol is only 23, with an embittered divorce behind her — so embittered that to this day, a couple of years later, she hasn't taken on a steady boy friend.

She was only 14 when she won the Antonette Perry award for the best ingenue for her acting in Graham Greene's "The Potting Shed" on Broadway with Dianne Edith Evans, a role that led to her smash hit in "Blue Denim."

Now Bob Banner has sent her the script of a new play, "My Sweet Charlie," which would bring her back to Broadway for the first time since Twentieth Century Fox paged her for some films which almost snuffed out her career.

Juliet Browne, home at last from a long series of club appearances, moved into her new Tower Road mansion in Beverly Hills with a bedroom bigger than most of the places she's played in.

She bought the house in April, with three upstairs bedrooms, and ordered walls eliminated to make one huge chamber at least 100 feet long.

But she'll use it for more than mere sleeping, installing all of her rehearsal paraphernalia with floor space reserved for dancing.

It cost plenty but she's in the half-million a year bracket.

Ruta Lee, now in New York, has a new beau. Personal Manager Bill Loeb, and she says he comes on strong, a take-charge man, and she likes it.

She's seeing a lot of Robert Vaughn too.
