Cuba to Put 40 Pro-Soviet Reds on Trial in Purge

BY RUBEN SALAZAR
Times Staff Writer

HAVANA — Premier Fidel Castro's rift with the Soviet Union widened Sunday with the announcement that about 40 old-line pro-Soviet Communists, including two members of the powerful central committee, would be tried for anti-revolutionary acts.

According to the government, the ringleader of a "micro-antirevolution faction" was Anibal Escalante who allegedly started a pro-Soviet movement in Cuba after visiting Poland and Russia.

The announcement of the trials, which could turn out to be a public airing of disagreements between Russia and Cuba, came after a three-day meeting of the Cuban Communist Party's Central Committee.

Fruit Production Director

Arrested with Escalante were two members of the committee, Ramon Calceles and Jose Matar. Calceles was head of Cuba's fruit production program.

Escalante, an old-line Communist leader, was publicly denounced and disciplined in 1962 by Castro. It was then that Escalante left for Poland and the Soviet Union. He returned to Cuba two years ago.

Castro's new purge appears to be part of an earlier crackdown against lesser known Communists and a handful of Havana University professors and students.

Sources close to the committee say the old-line Communists opposed Castro's guerrilla-oriented foreign policy and the Cuban Communist Party's campaign to eliminate material rewards to workers.

The government said those arrested "combated the revolution through calumny and defamation of the international policy of the Cuban revolution and violated revolutionary laws by distributing clandestine propaganda and other similar acts."

Will Not Send Delegation

The committee also announced that it would not send a Cuban delegation to a meeting of Communist parties—arranged by the Soviet Union—to be held soon in Budapest.

For about a year now Castro has strongly criticized the Soviet bloc countries for "rushing" to establish diplomatic and commercial relations with what he terms "oligarchic" governments of Latin America.

Three Attempts to Infiltrate Into South Also Thrown Back

SEOUL (AP)—U.S. troops repelled North Korean raids on American outposts along the Korean armistice line Saturday night and Sunday and turned back three attempts at infiltration, U.S. headquarters reported.

It was the seventh straight day of sporadic shootings along the dividing line between North and South Korea. The action started after 31 North Korean commandos got through allied positions along the line and made their way to Seoul with orders to assassinate President Park Chung Hee.

A U.S. military spokesman said troops of the U.S. 2nd Division engaged in two encounters with raiding North Korean forces in addition to blocking three infiltration attempts.

One Soldier Wounded

He said a South Korean soldier attached to the 2nd Division was slightly wounded. Communist casualties, if any, were unknown.

The U.S. division guards an 18-mile western sector of the 151-mile armistice line at a point about 25 miles north of Seoul.

U.S. forces have killed four North Koreans in the week of fighting along the line. Two Americans have been killed and a dozen others wounded.

The South Korean counterespionage center in Seoul announced the leader of the North Korean assassination team had been killed Friday 15 miles north of the capital. It said his body was identified by the lone captured North Korean. So far, 25 North Koreans have been killed and five are still at large.

Military informants in Seoul said the U.N. command, whose chief negotiators are American officers, plans to display the bodies of the 25 dead infiltrators at the next meeting of the mixed Military Armistice Commission at Panmunjom. No date has been fixed for the session.

North Korea says the men were South Koreans who revolted against Park's government.

In another development, the U.S. Air Force in South Korea continued to build up its strength, the Washington Post reported.

A flight of F-102 fighter-interceptors landed at Osan Air Base, 25 miles south of Seoul Sunday, reportedly from Okinawa. They are being

LET U.S., N. KOREA RESOLVE PUEBLO DISPUTE—KOSYGIN

BY ARTHUR J. DOMMEN
Times Staff Writer

HARDWAR, India—Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin said Sunday there was no question that the American intelligence ship Pueblo had been in North Korean waters before its seizure last Tuesday.

Kosygin was asked by newsmen accompanying him on a tour of Soviet aid projects if he was satisfied there had been a violation of territorial waters in the incident. "I am sure there was. There is no question about that," he replied.

Kosygin affirmed his belief that a solution to the problem of the Pueblo's seizure would have to be worked out between the United States and North Korea, a theme that has been consistently stressed by Soviet spokesmen since the premier's arrival in India Thursday.

ARRAIGNMENT TODAY RAISES CURTAIN

U.S. Policies to Face Test in Dr. Spock Trial

BY JOHN J. GOLDMAN
Times Staff Writer

BOSTON—A major confrontation between the peace movement and the Johnson Administration begins today in this historic city.

What is regarded in the antiwar movement as a fundamental clash between the law of the land and individual conscience will commence when Dr. Benjamin Spock, the Rev. William Sloane Coffin Jr. and three other activists are arraigned on charges of encouraging draft evasion.

Both sides see the stakes as much higher than the individual fates of America's most celebrated baby doctor, Yale University's chaplain and their associates.

No matter what the outcome of the trial itself, the indictment has served as a unifying factor in an otherwise disorganized peace movement.

In 10 to 20 cities church services will be held today for the accused. At Yale, 362 faculty members—including 23 deans and department chairmen—have signed a statement supporting Mr. Coffin.

At the very least, the trial in late April or early May will become a rallying point for groups planning what may be large and unruly demonstrations at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago in August.

On the other hand, the government's decision to take the peace

It will be very hard to kiss babies movement into the courts has won the approval of millions of Americans who feel "enough's enough."

Our investigation, in effect, is concerned not only with those committing overt acts of breaking the Selective Service Act, but with those aiding and abetting," Cecil Poole, the U.S. attorney in San Francisco, told The Times.

New Storm Expected to Bring Southland More Rain Tonight

BY DICK MAIN
Times Staff Writer

A storm which could bring up to .75 inch of rain in the Los Angeles Basin and heavy snow in the mountains moved toward Southern California Sunday after a one-day respite from two days of showers.

Both Universal Weather Service and the U.S. Weather Bureau forecast increasing cloudiness late today with new showers starting tonight and continuing Tuesday.

Snow is expected as low as the 4,000-foot level in nearby mountains.

The new storm will bring the Southland moisture generated by a deep low pressure system off the Oregon coast, forecasters said. The amount of rainfall will depend on formation of a trough extending from the low.

"If the heavy rain does get here, we should have more than in the last storm, possibly as much as three quarters of an inch," Gil Grafton, U.S. Weather Bureau district forecaster, said.

The weather pattern could change, however, causing the procession of showers to die out before reaching the Los Angeles area, he said. The

French Submarine With Crew of 52 Lost in Mediterranean

PARIS (AP)—A French submarine is missing in the western Mediterranean and a naval task force is searching for it, naval headquarters reported Sunday.

The submarine, the Minerve, was the second listed missing in the Mediterranean in three days. The Israeli sub Dakar with 69 aboard was last heard from Thursday as she was cruising near Cyprus in the eastern Mediterranean.

Patches of oil were spotted 25 miles off the port of Toulon but failed to lead to the Minerve and her crew of 52 men, a spokesman said Sunday night.

The oil was sighted just before dusk by sailors taking part in the massive search for the 800-ton, high-performance, Daphne-class submarine, officially counted as missing

Saturday after taking part in French naval maneuvers.

The finding of the oil slicks does not permit us to say we have localized the whereabouts of the Minerve. The search is still going on," the spokesman said.

Taking part in the search are six escort vessels, 10 minesweepers and seagoing tugs, the 27,000-ton carrier Clemenceau and dozens of planes and helicopters.

Last contact with the Minerve, the spokesman said, was at 6 a.m. Saturday, on the concluding phase of the two-day maneuvers.

The pilot of a sub-chasing plane taking part in the exercise messaged the Minerve, then under way 25 miles southeast of Toulon, that because of rough weather he was returning to base. The Minerve
